Public Services Vocational Pathway

Why choose our Public Services Vocational pathway?

Our Public Services courses develop the skills, values and attributes required for roles in public and protective services such as the Police, the Prison Service and the Armed Forces. Students gain confidence through practical activity, scenario based learning and teamwork.

What will I study?

Themes include leadership, fitness, communication, citizenship, law, community safety and problem solving in operational contexts. The courses also support physical development, resilience and teamwork.

What progression is there?

Uniformed and non uniformed public service roles, apprenticeships or University study in criminology, policing, emergency services or related areas.

Disclaimer

Final qualification titles for 2027 will be confirmed once national guidance on vocational education reform is issued.
